Case Narrative 19-101586

On October 5, 2019 at approximately 2133 hours, Police were dispatched to the area of 78 Ford St for a report of male subject who was hit by his wife. Upon arrival, police observed a male subject, later identified as Ernesto Gonzales DOB [REDACTED] standing on the sidewalk in front of the above mentioned address with several scratches on his face. Gonzales was also observed to be highly intoxicated with bloodshot eyes and lack of balance. Police attempted to speak with him but had difficulty understanding due to the language barrier. With the little information that was gathered, police were told that his wife had assaulted him and she was still upstairs.

Police proceeded upstairs to the apartment and made contact with the female subject, later identified as [REDACTED] DOB [REDACTED] who was sitting on the floor with her children (approx. 6 yrs and 12 yrs of age), crying hysterically. Again, due to the language barrier, police could not fully understand the situation, but [REDACTED] began pointing to her neck. With this gesture, police responded back downstairs and handcuffed Gonzales and seated him the rear of the marked police cruiser pending the investigation.

Car 293 Patrolman Torres responded to the scene and was able to translate. [REDACTED] stated to police that Gonzales came home heavily intoxicated, [REDACTED] had found out that he had been with another female and they began arguing. Gonzales became upset and stepped on his own phone causing the screen to smash. Gonzales pushed him so he would stop smashing the phone when he then grabbed her by the neck, [REDACTED] quickly began scratching his face in self defense at which point he let go. Gonzales then went downstairs and called police.

Police observed redness to the right side of neck but no serious injuries. [REDACTED] stated she he only grabbed her by the neck for a brief moment but did not actually choke her.

Rescue responded and treated Gonzales for his injuries and was later transported to Central Station where he will be held. Police completed a witness statement and DV/SA form for Ixcuna.

Car 245 Sgt. Sollitto was on scene.

This information will be forwarded to SVU for further investigation and charging.
